TOP-RANKED NORTH AMERICAN SKATERS

Connor Bedard

No. 1 Ranked North American Skater

Position: Center

Shoots: Right

Height: 5'9.75"

Weight: 185 lbs

Team: Regina Pats (WHL)

Birthplace: North Vancouver, B.C.

* Concluded 2022-23 with 71-72—143 (57 GP) – atop the WHL in goals, points and points per game (2.51), a season highlighted by a 35-game point streak (44-46—90). Bedard posted twice as many five-plus point outings (10 GP) as games he was held off the score sheet (5 GP). His goal total was 21 more than the next-closest skater and the most by a WHL player in 24 years (Pavel Brendl: 73 in 1998-99); meanwhile, his 143 points is the highest single-season total in 27 years (since 1995-96), when three players topped the number: Mark Deyell (159), Frank Banham (152) and Hnat Domenichelli

* Became the first player in Canadian Hockey League history to sweep the Player of the Year, Top Prospect and Top Scorer awards Saturday. No player had won all three in the same season since the Top Scorer award was introduced in 1994. He also became the first player to win three trophies at the CHL Awards since Connor McDavid won Top Prospect, Player of the Year and Scholastic Player of the Year awards in 2015.

* Led all players in the opening round of the 2023 WHL Playoffs with 10-10—20 through seven contests, helping the Regina Pats, who finished sixth in the conference, push the third-seeded Saskatoon Blades to a Game 7. Bedard found the score sheet in all seven contests, tallying multi-point outings in six of those, including a hat trick and five points in Game 2.

* Recorded 9-14—23 (7 GP) at the 2023 World Junior Championship which led all players in all three categories – his assist and point totals stand as single tournament Team Canada records. Bedard was named tournament MVP after his gold-medal performance.

* The 17-year-old passed Jaromir Jagr, Wayne Gretzky and Eric Lindros for the most points at a single World Junior Championship across by a U-18 player.

* Tallied 17-19—36 in 16 games between the 2023 and 2022 World Junior Championship, establishing records for most goals and points by a Canadian player in a World Junior Championship career.

* Became the first WHL player to be granted exceptional status and seventh CHL player to do so, joining John Tavares, Aaron Ekblad, Connor McDavid, Sean Day, Joe Veleno and Shane Wright.

* Became the youngest captain in Regina Pats (WHL) history (17 years old, 2 months) surpassing Barret Jackman (17 years old, 11 months).

* On April 17, 2022 he totaled 2-3—5 to reach the 100-point and 50-goal mark of the 2021-22 season – he became the youngest player in WHL history to score 50 goals.

- * Named Academic Player of the Month for September 2022 while holding an 86% average.
- * On Nov. 17, 2022, Bedard became the first WHL skater to record a point streak of 20+ games in back-to-back seasons since Brendan Shinnimin in 2010-11 and 2011-12.
- * Re-watches every single shift after each single game to identify where he can improve.
- * He used to shoot pucks out on his street while wearing inline skates but had to move to his backyard after breaking a window. Bedard can credit one of his neighbors, a professional carpenter, for helping his development by building a substantial wooden edifice in the Bedards' backyard for target practice – a large wooden stage and a suspended white shooting tarp. The open-air structure is now very worn in and peppered with skids from countless pucks. Bedard continues to call shooting in his backyard his “happy place”.
- * As a kid, Bedard refused family excursions to Disneyland as he wanted to stay home and play hockey however, he said he would go on a trip to Maui, Hawaii when his parents allowed him to bring his inline skates and hockey stick to continue to practice.
- * In 2018, at age 13, Bedard broke his wrist which helped him develop his shot as he continued to play with just one hand on his stick – his left and top hand.

NHL CENTRAL SCOUTING:

Outstanding talent with an elite skill set and hockey IQ. He's on a well-earned level of his own right now as the No. 1 prospect for the 2023 NHL Draft. His offensive instincts with vision, read/react, exceptionally quick hands and moves, all combined with his inherent ability to utilize these skills and assets at top speed place him in the category of being a “special” NHL prospect. He continuously produces and lives up to the hype of being a wizard with the puck and making plays that have you believing he has eyes in the back of his head. He is one of the more natural scorers to come along since the likes of Patrick Kane and Sidney Crosby. The hype is reminiscent to that of the Connor McDavid and Auston Matthews Draft years and similarly, Bedard is one of those players who always brings fans out of their seat. A scoring threat whenever he's on the ice and almost effortlessly capable of making highlight reel plays again and again while continuing his record-setting ways.
