#NHLSTATS AS AUSTON MATTHEWS APPROACHES 60-GOAL MARK

* Auston Matthews can record the second 60-goal season of his NHL career after scoring exactly 60 in 73 games en route to winning the Maurice "Rocket" Richard Trophy in 2021-22.

* The 2023-24 NHL season would mark the third straight campaign to feature at least one 60-goal scorer, following 2022-23 (Connor McDavid & David Pastrnak) and 2021-22 (Matthews). The only other instances in League history where three or more consecutive seasons featured at least one 60-goal scorer were a streak of 14 straight from 1980-81 to 1993-94 and six in a row from 1973-74 to 1978-79.

* Matthews (San Ramon, Calif.) is the NHL's only U.S.-born player with one 60-goal season and can become the ninth skater in League history with two or more, joining Mike Bossy (5), Wayne Gretzky (5), Phil Esposito (4), Mario Lemieux (4), Brett Hull (3), Pavel Bure (2), Jari Kurri (2) and Steve Yzerman (2).

* Matthews is the only player in franchise history with one 60-goal campaign. He can become the third player in NHL history with multiple 60-goal seasons for an Original Six club, following Phil Esposito (4 w/ BOS) and Steve Yzerman (2 w/ DET).

* Matthews can become the 11th different player in League history to reach 60 goals in a season in 70 games or fewer and first since Mario Lemieux did so 28 years ago with the Penguins.

* Matthews has scored a League-leading 43 even-strength goals this season, which mark the second highest single-season total in franchise history (since 1933-34 when goals by type were officially tracked) behind his 44 in 2021-22. Matthews is the only active player to score 40-plus even-strength goals in a season more than once.

* Matthews has recorded 16 multi-goal games this season, including six hat tricks with four of them scored in consecutive fashion (Oct. 11-14, 2023 & Feb. 15-17, 2024).
