

#NHLSTATS PACK: DIVISIONAL NOTES FOR 2020-21

Rivalries will take center stage in 2020-21 as division realignment will see foes from past and present meet up to 10 times in the regular season, followed by two rounds of intradivisional playoff series. The 56-game schedule – for a total of 868 regular-season games – is set to deliver more than triple the number of all-Canadian matchups versus the usual 82-game schedule (196 in 2020-21 vs. 58 scheduled in 2019-20) and more than double the number of intradivisional games compared to last season (868 in 2020-21 vs. 431 scheduled in 2019-20).

The temporary changes will reignite decades-old rivalries, add new life to battles of recent years and raise the stakes between teams who will play more than the equivalent of a seven-game series in the regular season alone – against either six or seven teams – as the NHL schedule takes on a new look.

NORTH DIVISION – Calgary, Edmonton, Montreal, Ottawa, Toronto, Vancouver, Winnipeg

- * The North Division marks a return to the NHL's rivalry roots. The League included only Canadian teams in its first seven seasons (1917-18–1923-24) until the Boston Bruins became the first U.S.-based franchise in 1924-25.
- * This is the first all-Canadian division in NHL history. When divisions were introduced to the NHL in 1926-27, the Canadian Division included the New York Americans for all 12 seasons (1926-27–1937-38) and the St. Louis Eagles in 1934-35 (a result of the original Ottawa Senators relocating).
- * Montreal and Toronto, the NHL's two remaining founding franchises, will play in the same division for the 41st season all-time and 22nd consecutive campaign dating to 1998-99 when the Maple Leafs joined the Canadiens in the Northeast Division. Ottawa also has been in the same division as Canada's two Original Six clubs since 1998-99; the Senators have shared a division with the Canadiens for each of their 28 seasons (including 2020-21).
- * Edmonton and Vancouver will continue as division rivals for a 41st consecutive season dating to 1979-80 when the Oilers entered the NHL (Smythe: 1979-80–1992-93; Pacific: 1993-94–1997-98; Northwest: 1998-99–2012-13; Pacific: 2013-14–2019-20). They now have been with Calgary for 39 consecutive campaigns dating to 1981-82 when the Flames – in their second season in Alberta – joined the Smythe Division.
- * Fans in Winnipeg are set to revisit several old rivalries. The original Jets were division rivals with Toronto for their final three seasons in Winnipeg (1993-94–1995-96) and were longtime Smythe Division foes of Edmonton, Calgary and Vancouver (1982-83–1992-93).
- * Vancouver will renew acquaintances with former division rivals Montreal and Toronto. All three teams competed in the East Division from 1970-71 to 1973-74 (each of the Canucks' first four NHL seasons) before the League realigned in 1974-75.
- * The 2020-21 regular season will feature more iterations of the “Battle of Alberta” and “Battle of Ontario” (19 total) than the previous two seasons combined (17 scheduled from 2018-19–2019-20).
- * Brothers Matthew Tkachuk (CGY) and Brady Tkachuk (OTT) are set to meet more in 2020-21 (9x) than they would have through four seasons under normal circumstances. Matthew and the Flames hold the edge through four games to date (Matthew: 1-2—3, CGY: 3-1-0 vs. Brady: 2-1—3, OTT: 1-3-0).
- * The North Division features five of the top eight goal-scorers over the past four seasons (Auston Matthews, TOR; Leon Draisaitl, EDM; Connor McDavid, EDM; John Tavares, TOR; & Patrik Laine, WPG) and three of the top six from 2019-20 (Matthews, Draisaitl, & Kyle Connor, WPG).
- * Connor McDavid (EDM) and Auston Matthews (TOR) are scheduled to meet nine times in 2020-21, after playing seven times in their NHL careers to date (McDavid: 3-7—10, EDM: 1-5-1 vs. Matthews: 3-2—5, TOR: 6-1-0). Matthews (TOR) and Patrik Laine (WPG) are slated for 10 head-to-head games in 2020-21, two more than the top two picks from the 2016 NHL Draft have met in to date (Matthews: 3-8—11, TOR: 5-1-2 vs. Laine: 6-1—7, WPG: 3-4-1).
- * Former Metropolitan Division rivals and Stanley Cup-winners Braden Holtby (VAN) and Matt Murray (OTT) will keep their rivalry alive with new teams. Holtby (2015-16), Connor Hellebuyck (WPG; 2019-20) and Carey Price (MTL; 2014-15) account for three of the last six Vezina Trophy wins.
- * Winnipeg is 14-1-0 in its last 15 games versus Vancouver dating to April 4, 2015 (VAN: 1-14-0), including 10 straight regulation victories since Dec. 22, 2016 – the longest regular-season win streak against one opponent in Jets/Thrashers franchise history.

WEST DIVISION – Anaheim, Arizona, Colorado, Los Angeles, Minnesota, San Jose, St. Louis, Vegas

- * Los Angeles and San Jose will clash in the same division for a 29th consecutive season since the Sharks entered the NHL (Smythe: 1991-92–1992-93; Pacific: 1993-94–2019-20). With the addition of Anaheim in 1993-94, the three-team California intrastate rivalry continues for a 27th straight campaign. Arizona remains in the same division as the California trio for a 22nd consecutive season since 1998-99.
- * Los Angeles and St. Louis share divisional ties as the Kings and Blues were part of the inaugural West Division for seven seasons beginning in 1967-68 when the NHL expanded to 12 teams. They also were joined in that division by the Minnesota North Stars, who then battled the Blues in the Smythe and Norris Divisions for 16 of their 19 remaining seasons before relocating to Dallas (Smythe: 1974-75–1977-78; Norris: 1981-82–1992-93).
- * Colorado rejoins a division with the three California teams, their divisional foes for their first three seasons in Denver (Pacific: 1995-96–1997-98).
- * The Coyotes and Blues will play in the same division for the first time since 1997-98 – the Coyotes/original Jets and Blues clashed in the Central Division for five seasons (1993-94–1997-98).
- * Vegas will face Colorado and Minnesota as many times in 2020-21 as they have since entering the League in 2017-18 (8 GP vs. each club).
- * The West Division includes three teams that have reached the Stanley Cup Final in the past five seasons (STL: 2019; VGK: 2018; SJS: 2016).
- * Following consecutive playoff meetings in 2018 and 2019, the budding rivalry between the Sharks and Golden Knights will see eight instalments in 2020-21. Peter DeBoer (VGK) served as head coach of San Jose from 2015-16 to 2019-20 before joining Vegas last January.
- * Los Angeles went 7-0-0 in its last seven games of the 2019-20 regular season, including three wins over teams now in the West Division. The Kings outscored the Golden Knights, Wild and Avalanche by a combined 14-5 margin in those victories.
- * Nathan MacKinnon (COL) had 93 points in 2019-20, which was 43 more than his next-closest teammate and 27 more than any other current member of the new West Division (Max Pacioretty, VGK: 66). The Kings were the only team now in the West to hold MacKinnon without a point in 2019-20 (3 GP).
- * The West features Norris Trophy winners Brent Burns (SJS), Drew Doughty (LAK) and Erik Karlsson (SJS), and several other stalwart defensemen such as Cam Fowler (ANA), Oliver Ekman-Larsson (ARI), Cale Makar (COL), Matt Dumba (MIN), Torey Krug (STL) and Alex Pietrangelo (VGK).
- * Alex Pietrangelo (VGK), who skated with the Blues in each of his first 12 NHL seasons, is set to face his former team eight times in 2020-21. St. Louis added defenseman Torey Krug (STL), a member of the opposing Bruins in the 2019 Final when Pietrangelo captained the Blues to their first Cup.
- * Kevin Fiala (MIN) and Zach Sanford (STL) ranked among the NHL's top 10 in regular-season goals since the 2020 NHL All-Star Weekend. Sanford's 12 goals over that span included four against Vegas on Feb. 13, 2020.
- * Devan Dubnyk (SJS) could face his former teams Minnesota (2014-15–2019-20) and Arizona (2014-15) up to 16 times this season, while Darcy Kuemper (ARI) could do the same against his old clubs Los Angeles (2017-18) and Minnesota (2012-13–2016-17). The same applies for 2020 Stanley Cup champion Kevin Shattenkirk (ANA), against Colorado (2010-11) and St. Louis (2010-11–2016-17).

CENTRAL DIVISION – Carolina, Chicago, Columbus, Dallas, Detroit, Florida, Nashville, Tampa Bay

* The longest active run as division rivals among teams in the new Central Division belongs to Tampa Bay and Florida, who will play in the same grouping for a 27th consecutive season since the Panthers entered the NHL (Atlantic: 1993-94–1997-98; Southeast: 1998-99–2012-13; Atlantic: 2013-14–2019-20). Chicago and Nashville are next in line with 22 straight campaigns, playing against each other in the Central Division for the Predators' entire history.

* Original Six rivals Chicago and Detroit will play in the same division for the 47th time and first since ending a run of 31 consecutive seasons as division rivals in 2012-13 (American: 1926-27–1937-38; East: 1967-68–1969-70; Norris: 1981-82–1992-93; Central: 1993-94–2012-13).

* Chicago and Detroit, who entered the NHL together in 1926-27, are accompanied in the new Central Division by six teams that either joined the League or began play in their current city in the 1990s or later (TBL: 1992-93; DAL: 1993-94; FLA: 1993-94; CAR: 1997-98; NSH: 1998-99; CBJ: 2000-01).

* Dallas shares a history of divisional connections with Detroit, playing against them in the Norris Division as the Minnesota North Stars for 12 seasons (1981-82–1992-93) before relocating to Texas for five more campaigns from 1993-94 to 1997-98 – combining for all five division titles in that span.

* The Lightning contested their inaugural season (1992-93) in the Norris Division, which featured the Blackhawks, Red Wings and North Stars. Tampa Bay's first-ever game was against Chicago on Oct. 7, 1992, noteworthy on account of Lightning forward Chris Kontos scoring four goals in a 7-3 win.

* Columbus returns to the Central Division, where it competed for each of its first 12 NHL seasons (2000-01–2012-13). The Blue Jackets had the Blackhawks, Predators and Red Wings as intradivisional opponents over that span.

* The Hurricanes, Lightning and Panthers were in the Southeast Division together for 14 seasons (1998-99–2012-13). Before relocating to Raleigh, the Hartford Whalers played their first two NHL seasons in the Norris Division with Detroit (1979-80–1980-81).

* Tampa Bay and Dallas will become the first teams in 40 years to compete in the same division in the season after meeting in the Stanley Cup Final (1980-81: NYI vs. PHI in Patrick Division). Overall, three of the last six championship series have featured at least one team in the new Central Division (2020, 2017 & 2015), including head-to-heads in 2020 between the Lightning and Stars and in 2015 between the Blackhawks and Lightning.

* The Central features a long list of NHL Award winners: Patrick Kane (CHI), Duncan Keith (CHI), Jonathan Toews (CHI), Nick Foligno (CBJ), Jamie Benn (DAL), Thomas Greiss (DET), Bobby Ryan (DET), Aleksander Barkov (FLA), Sergei Bobrovsky (FLA), Aaron Ekblad (FLA), Jonathan Huberdeau (FLA), Roman Josi (NSH), Pekka Rinne (NSH), Victor Hedman (TBL), Nikita Kucherov (TBL), Steven Stamkos (TBL) and Andrei Vasilevskiy (TBL).

* Andrei Svechnikov (CAR; 2x) and Filip Forsberg (NSH) combined for the NHL's three lacrosse-style goals in 2019-20.

* John Tortorella (CBJ) was head coach of the Lightning for parts of seven seasons from 2000-01 to 2007-08, guiding the franchise to its first Stanley Cup in 2004. Steve Yzerman (DET) was Tampa Bay's general manager across eight seasons from 2010-11 to 2017-18 and had a hand in acquiring the majority of players who won the championship in 2020.

* The Blue Jackets are 8-0-0 in their last eight games against the Stars dating to Dec. 29, 2015 (DAL: 0-6-2), two games shy of their longest regular-season win streak versus one opponent. Columbus went 10-0-0 against Florida from March 21, 2009 to Dec. 4, 2014 (FLA: 0-7-3).

EAST DIVISION – Boston, Buffalo, New Jersey, NY Islanders, NY Rangers, Philadelphia, Pittsburgh, Washington

- * Boston and Buffalo will be intradivisional opponents for a 50th consecutive season dating to 1970-71, the longest such active streak in the NHL.
- * The Rangers and Islanders are in the same division for a 48th consecutive season since the latter entered the NHL in 1972-73 (East: 1972-73–1973-74; Patrick: 1974-75–1992-93; Atlantic: 1993-94–2012-13; Metropolitan: 2013-14–2019-20). The Flyers join them for a 46th straight campaign dating to 1974-75, while the Devils, Flyers, Islanders and Rangers align in the same division for a 38th consecutive season since 1982-83.
- * The Bruins and Rangers will play in the same division for the 20th time in their storied histories, but for the first time in nearly 50 years. The Original Six rivals were in the American Division together for each of New York's first 12 seasons (1926-27–1937-38) and in the original East Division for the first seven campaigns of the League's expansion era (1967-68–1973-74).
- * New York's intrastate rivalry puts the Sabres, Rangers and Islanders all in the same division for the first time in nearly 50 years. Buffalo played each of its first four NHL seasons in the original East Division, with the Rangers for all four (1970-71–1973-74) and with the Islanders for two (1972-73–1973-74).
- * Intradivisional rivals Philadelphia and Pittsburgh will be in the same division for a 22nd straight season and 41st time overall since joining the NHL together in 1967-68 (West: 1967-68–1973-74; Patrick: 1981-82–1992-93; Atlantic: 1998-99–2012-13; Metropolitan: 2013-14–2019-20).
- * Fans in Boston and Philadelphia are set to revisit a historic rivalry which featured several playoff battles in the 1970s between the “Big Bad Bruins” and “Broad Street Bullies”, including a meeting in the 1974 Stanley Cup Final, and, more recently, a Winter Classic showdown and historic 2010 playoff series.
- * The East Division is the only one of the NHL's 2020-21 divisions where all members have playoff history against one another.
- * The Bruins (2019-20, 2013-14), Capitals (2016-17, 2015-16) and Rangers (2014-15) have combined for five of the last seven Presidents' Trophy wins.
- * The eight games between the Bruins and Flyers in 2020-21 are also set to include two of the NHL's best two-way forwards in Patrice Bergeron (BOS) and Sean Couturier (PHI), who have combined for five of the last nine Frank J. Selke Trophy wins.
- * Alex Ovechkin (WSH) looks to keep climbing the NHL's all-time goals list versus his biggest rivals – he has scored 231 of his 706 career regular-season goals against teams now in the East Division (32.7%). Ovechkin will pursue history as an intradivisional opponent of 2019-20 Maurice “Rocket” Richard Trophy co-winner David Pastrnak (BOS), longtime rival Sidney Crosby (PIT) and fellow countrymen Evgeni Malkin (PIT) and Artemi Panarin (NYR).
- * Taylor Hall (BUF) is slated for eight matchups against his former team New Jersey, with whom he won the 2017-18 Hart Memorial Trophy. Like the Sabres, the Devils made a noteworthy offseason acquisition with the addition of two-time Stanley Cup-winning goaltender Corey Crawford (NJD).
- * The East Division features each of the last four No. 1 picks in the NHL Draft: Alexis Lafreniere (NYR; 2020), Jack Hughes (NJD; 2019), Rasmus Dahlin (BUF; 2018) and Nico Hischier (NJD; 2017), as well as 2017-18 Calder Memorial Trophy winner Mathew Barzal (NYI).
- * The Capitals and Rangers are set to experience an official changing of the guard in the crease, with Ilya Samsonov (WSH) expected to take over from Braden Holtby (VAN) in Washington and the tandem of Igor Shesterkin (NYR) and Alexandar Georgiev (NYR) slated to do the same from Henrik Lundqvist in New York. Lundqvist signed a one-year contract with the longtime-rival Capitals but will miss the 2020-21 season due to a heart condition.

BY THE NUMBERS

- 960 – Combined goals in the 2019-20 regular season by the League's four highest-scoring teams, who are distributed across the four new divisions for 2020-21 (Central: Tampa Bay; East: Washington; North: Toronto; West: Colorado).
- 747 – Number of all-time regular-season games between the Maple Leafs and Canadiens – a number that will reach 757 in 2020-21 to surpass the Bruins vs. Canadiens for the most in League history. The Blackhawks and Red Wings are set to go from 739 to 747 all-time meetings by season's end.
- 153 – All-time playoff series between teams in the East Division, the only 2020-21 grouping where all members have playoff history against one another.
- 50 – Consecutive seasons as division rivals for Boston and Buffalo, spanning the Sabres' entire history from 1970-71 to 2020-21. That is the NHL's longest active run in the same division and one of 10 groupings that have been together for at least 27 consecutive seasons.
- 42 – Most all-time Stanley Cup wins among the four new divisions (North: 42, East: 25, Central: 21, West: 6).
- 23 – Number of NHL seasons for former teammates Joe Thornton (TOR) and Patrick Marleau (SJS), including 2020-21. Each player continues his pursuit of a first Stanley Cup, with Thornton set to play for a Canadian NHL team for the first time and Marleau returning for his third stint with San Jose. Thornton ranks among the top 15 on the League's all-time regular-season lists for assists (1,089; 7th), games played (1,636; 9th) and points (1,509; 14th), while Marleau (1,723 GP) enters 2020-21 occupying fifth place on the all-time regular-season games played list and needs 45 appearances to pass Gordie Howe (1,767 GP) for the most in NHL history. Zdeno Chara would also contest his 23rd NHL season if he plays in 2020-21.
- 14 – Cumulative First Round appearances from 2018 to 2020 by teams in the West, tops among the new divisions (Central: 13, East: 13, North: 8).
- 11 – Cumulative Stanley Cup Final appearances since 2005-06 by teams in the East, tops among the new divisions (Central: 10, West: 6, North: 3).
- 9 – Postseason matchups from 2020 are in the same division for 2020-21: East – 4 (NYR-CAR, NYI-WSH, CAR-BOS, NYI-PHI), West – 3 (ARI-COL, DAL-COL, DAL-VGK), North – 1 (WPG-CGY) and Central – 1 (CBJ-TBL).
- 7 – Most teams from one of the new divisions that reached the 2020 Stanley Cup Qualifiers (Central: 7 of 8, North: 6 of 7, East: 6 of 8, West: 5 of 8).
- 6 – New intradivisional opponents for Winnipeg, the only team in the NHL that did not retain a divisional foe for the 2020-21 season.
- 3 – Playoff series in which North Division teams will face one another in 2021, equaling the total number of all-Canadian playoff series contested over the last 15 years (2020: CGY vs. WPG; 2015: CGY vs. VAN; 2015: MTL vs. OTT).
- .597 – Cumulative points percentage in 2019-20 by teams in the East, tops among the new divisions (West: .549, North: .542, Central: .542).
