FIRST-PLACE FLORIDA DEFEATS NY ISLANDERS; OTHER DIVISION LEADERS KEEP PACE

The League-leading Panthers (11-2-3, 25 points) triumphed Tuesday, while the Hurricanes (12-2-0, 24 points) and Jets (9-3-3, 21 points) also earned wins to keep pace:

* The Panthers produced six goals and Sergei Bobrovsky made 27 saves as Florida defeated New York, which concluded its 13-game season-opening road trip. The Panthers improved to 8-0-0 at FLA Live Arena this season and matched their longest home winning streak at any point in a campaign, a mark set from Feb. 22–March 10, 2018. Florida has earned victories in each of its last 12 regular-season home contests dating to April 24, which is also the longest such run in franchise history (spanning seasons).

* Hurricanes forward Seth Jarvis scored the first game-winning goal of his NHL career, vaulting the visitors to victory in Vegas. Carolina, which maintained its lead atop the Metropolitan Division standings, owns 12 wins through 14 games in a season for the first time in franchise history.

* Kyle Connor scored his 12th goal of the season (12-8—20 in 15 GP) – tied for the second most in the NHL – as the Jets earned their fifth straight win against the Oilers dating to Game 1 of the 2021 First Round. Only one player has recorded more goals through their first 15 games played in a season with the Jets/Thrashers: Ilya Kovalchuk (13 G in 2009-10, 2007-08 & 2003-04).

Only two players in Jets/Thrashers history have reached the 20-point mark in a season in fewer games than Kyle Connor (15 GP): Ilya Kovalchuk (12 GP in 2009-10, 13 GP in 2003-04 & 14 GP in 2005-06) and Blake Wheeler (14 GP in 2017-18)

CAPITALS TO FACE YET ANOTHER STREAKING TEAM

After falling Tuesday to the Ducks, the Capitals will face yet another streaking opponent when they continue their California road trip against the Kings – who are riding an eight-game point streak (7-0-1). Los Angeles has had two point streaks of nine or more games over the past eight seasons: (8-0-1 in 2017-18 and 7-0-2 in 2015-16).

Washington is the 7th club in NHL history to face different teams on consecutive days, with each opponent on a point streak of 8+ games. The only other instance since 2011-12 was by Montreal in 2016-17 (Dec. 22-23 vs. MIN & CBJ).
