

NHL MORNING SKATE – JAN. 10, 2022

* The Blues (21-10-5, 47 points) became the 11th team in NHL history to win in regulation after trailing in the final minute of the third period as they scored twice in the last 47 seconds to extend their home point streak to 12 games.

* The three highest-scoring rookies in the NHL – Lucas Raymond, Trevor Zegras and Moritz Seider – stole the show in a back-and-forth game between the Ducks (19-12-7, 45 points) and Red Wings (16-16-4, 36 points).

* The Avalanche (21-8-2, 44 points) will put a pair of lengthy home streaks on the line Monday when they welcome the Kraken (10-19-4, 24 points) to Ball Arena.

KYROU HELPS BLUES MOUNT FINAL-MINUTE COMEBACK TO EXTEND HOME POINT STREAK

Jordan Kyrrou (1-1—2) factored on both goals as the Blues (21-10-5, 47 points) scored twice in the final 47 seconds of regulation to extend their home point streak to 12 games (11-0-1) while becoming the 11th team in NHL history to win in regulation after trailing in the final minute of the third period.

* Kyrrou leads the Blues with 14-22—36 in 2021-22 (32 GP), equaling a career high for goals in one campaign and establishing new personal benchmarks for assists and points (he had 14-21—35 last season; 55 GP). Kyrrou's totals include 5-6—11 during an active five-game point streak dating to Dec. 29, trailing only Jonathan Huberdeau (3-10—13 in 6 GP) and Jack Hughes (4-8—12 in 6 GP) for the most points over that span.

ROOKIES RISE TO THE OCCASION IN DUCKS, RED WINGS SHOWDOWN

Each of the three-highest scoring rookies this season found the score sheet in Anaheim as Trevor Zegras (9-18—27 in 32 GP) notched 1-1—2 for the Ducks to outperform the Red Wings tandem of Lucas Raymond (10-20—30 in 36 GP) and Moritz Seider (3-20—23 in 36 GP) who had one assist apiece. A rookie goaltender also made his mark Sunday as 21-year-old Lukas Dostal made 33 saves to win his NHL debut.

* Dostal's 33 saves were the most ever by a Ducks goaltender in his NHL debut, besting the previous mark of 24 achieved by Kevin Boyle (Feb. 9, 2019), Frederik Andersen (Oct. 20, 2013) and Mikhail Shtalenkov (Nov. 14, 1993).

* Zegras opened the scoring by becoming the first Ducks rookie since 2010-11 to notch three power-play goals in a season, added an assist for his 40th NHL point (56 GP) and capped the night by notching the game-deciding goal in the shootout. The only Ducks rookie to require fewer games than Zegras to reach 40 NHL points was Bobby Ryan (54 GP from 2007-08 to 2008-09).

* Raymond and Seider each collected their 20th NHL assist, tied for the most among rookies in 2021-22. At age 19, Raymond (36 GP) required the fewest games among teenagers to reach 20 career assists with the Red Wings, eclipsing franchise icon Steve Yzerman (39 GP). Seider (36 GP), meanwhile, required the third-fewest outings among Detroit defensemen to reach 20 NHL assists, behind Nicklas Lidstrom (26 GP) and Jeff Sharples (32 GP).

AVALANCHE OF STREAKS ON THE LINE IN DENVER

The Avalanche (21-8-2, 44 points), who own the fourth-highest points percentage in the NHL (.710), will look to extend their franchise-record home winning streak to 12 games, which would be the longest by any team since the Bruins in 2018-19 (12 GP). Colorado (12-0-1 in 13 GP) also will vie for a 14-game home point streak, a feat they have achieved four times in franchise history – most recently last season when they matched a club record at 17 games (16-0-1).

Colorado was the last NHL club with a home point streak of 14+ games (16-0-1 from March 10 – May 13, 2021). They own a regular-season home record of 29-2-2 since the start of that franchise record-tying run last season.

 #NHLSTATS

* Mikko Rantanen owns an active nine-game home point streak (7-14—21), one shy of equaling four players for the longest in the NHL this season. Rantanen leads the League with 35 points overall since Nov. 11, when Colorado began its home winning streak.

* Nazem Kadri (1.89), Nathan MacKinnon (1.85) and Rantanen (1.67) own the top-three highest overall points-per-game rates in the NHL since Nov. 11. Kadri paces that list thanks in part to an active run of 11 consecutive games played with a point dating to Nov. 27 (5-14—19), trailing only Pittsburgh's Jake Guentzel (17 GP) and teammates Gabriel Landeskog (14 GP) and MacKinnon (13 GP) for the longest active such stretch in the NHL.

* Kadri (5-18—23 in 11 home GP) and Landeskog (8-3—21 in 11 home GP) also each own an active stretch of 11 consecutive home games played with a point dating to Oct. 30, the longest such stretches in the NHL this season. Both players missed two home games during that span.
